PROJECTS

[2024]

Modern Portfolio A portfolio website is a digital platform that showcases the professional endeavors, projects, and career progression of an individual or a company.

[2023 – Current]

Teknofest Rocket Competition The Rocket Competition aims to develop students' abilities by increasing their interest in space technologies, to raise awareness in society in the fields of aviation, space and technology, to support interested young people, to encourage them to do research on future technologies and to ensure that they become familiar with professional design processes.

My primary duty in the software team is to create a unique UI using my React knowledge, and in the software team, I continue to work on the rocket's software (receiving and processing altitude, pressure, GPS data with the ground computer).

[Current]

Password Generator & Checker I am developing a Chrome extension that includes a password generator and leak checker. The password generator will create strong and secure passwords, while the leak checker will verify if a password has been compromised or leaked in any data breaches

[Current]

NotWhatsapp I am developing a visually appealing WhatsApp-like application using React for a more enhanced user interface.

[06/2023 – 07/2023]

Pinyin Marine I developed a corporate website for Pinyin Marine using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. The site was designed and coded meticulously to effectively showcase the company's expertise and wide range of services in the maritime industry

Link: <https://www.pinyin-marine.com/>

[04/2023 – 06/2023]

Parkpin Smart Parking Parkpin Smart Parking is an application that allows users to view all parking lots on a map, obtain information about the parking lots, reserve a spot, and make online payments.

[09/2022 – 01/2023]

Gameathon Full Stack Gameathon Events are organized by Izmir University of Economics Vocational School and participants are expected to develop a game from scratch within 24 hours. I not only provided the website with admin panel and application infrastructure for this event, but also served as the director throughout the event.
